CHAPTER – 1

INTRODUCTION

The Right to Information Act, 2005 was enacted on 15th June 2005 and came into force at once. Some of the provisions, however, came into force with effect from 12th October, 2005 (exactly 120th day of the enactment). The objective of the Act reads as follows:-

“An Act to provide for setting out of the practical regime of right to information for citizens to secure access to information under the control of public authorities, in order to promote transparency and accountability in the working of every public authority and also to contain corruption.”

The Right to Information Act covers a wide spectrum of bodies. All Departments and Undertakings of the Central and State Governments, institutions, agencies and other bodies established, constituted, owned, controlled or substantially financed by governments including non – governmental organizations are covered by the Act. Every citizen of India has the right to information accessible under the Act which is held by or under the control of any public authority which includes inspection of work, documents or records, taking certified samples of materials, obtaining information in the form of diskettes, floppies, tapes, video cassettes or in any other electronic mode or through printouts where such information is stored in a computer or in any other device.

The Mizoram Information Commission was constituted by the Government of Mizoram in the Department of Information and Public Relations under notification No. F.13011/1/11/2005 – IPR dated 29.6.2006. The Commission started functioning from 5th July, 2006 when Mr. Robert Hrangdawla, IAS(Rtd) and Mr. K. Tlanthanga, IB(P)S (Rtd) were sworn in as Chief Information Commissioner and Information Commissioner respectively. The office of the Commission is temporarily arranged in an All India Service Officer's Residential Building in the New Secretariat Complex.

The importance of the role played by the right to information nationally and internationally has been recognized. Under the Act, it is mandatory for the Central Information Commission and the State Information Commissions to prepare a report on the implementation of the provisions of the Act each year and forward the same to the Central Government or the State Government for laying it before the Parliament or the State Legislative Assembly. The Government of Mizoram has allocated a budgetary provision of Rs 101.65 lakhs during the year 2008 – 2009 as under:-

TOTAL	101.65	101.13

During 2008 – 2009, 177 applications were received by 37 public authorities and 30 public authorities have not received any application. Details may be seen at Annexure 3. The fact that more public authorities have been involved in the quest for information would indicate that gradual awareness has been implanted to the minds of the general public and public authorities as well.

During the year under report, 15 complaints and 5 second appeals were received and decided by the State Information Commission, details of which may be seen at Annexure 6 and Annexure 7 respectively. In most cases the complaints lodged with the Commission pertained to delay in receiving the replies from the Public Information Officers which could be attributed to lack of awareness on the part of the Public Information officers about the provisions of the Right To Information Act, 2005 and the Rules made thereunder. While it may be for the state Government to impart training and awareness to the public authorities and the general public as required under sub - section (1) of section 26, the Commission has supplemented the drive in the form of sponsorship and awareness campaign during the year under report.

CONCLUSION

It is evident from the foregoing report that there has been progress in the implementation of the various provisions of the Right to Information Act, 2005 by various public authorities and the public as well. However, much more remains to be desired. Even then, the pace of progress is furthered towards perfection.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The Commission would like to place on record its sincere gratitude to various Departments, agencies and organizations as well as the Public Information Officers and the First Appellate Authorities for rendering their valuable assistance in deciding complaints and appeals by the Information Commission.
